Academies of Madison County

Each high school has an Academy which combines an academy curriculum with an occupational theme determined by student interest. Students interested in participating in an Academy should meet with their school counselor for specific course selections.

Early College

Madison County Schools has an articulation agreement with Holmes Community College which affords high school juniors and seniors, who meet established requirements, the opportunity to earn both high school and college credit during the regular school day on the high school campus.

Students should refer to the graduation requirements as stated in the student handbook and on the district website at (www.madison-schools.com) to ensure correct course selections.

I would like to register for the above courses for the 2023–2024 school year. I understand that for a course to be offered a minimum of 15 students must be enrolled and budget requirements must be met. I understand that Madison County Schools has a “no drop” policy as stated in the student handbook.

Rosa Scott Summer Reading for Students in Accelerated English I

All Accelerated English I students must read two novels and complete one assignment for each novel. These assignments will be collected at the beginning of your first Accelerated English I class on either August 3rd or August 4th. Accelerated English I teachers will schedule activities and reading comprehension tests for the books during the first two weeks of school. To be clear, Accelerated English I students should read both (2) novels this summer. Instructions for Make Your Bed are on the back of this sheet. They are the same as the English I instructions. Be prepared.

Accelerated English I: Lord of the Flies by William Golding
Make Your Bed by William H. McRaven

After reading Lord of the Flies by William Golding, students will complete one of the following items assignments.

ON THE FIRST ELA Class Day students are asked to bring the following:

ART

-Choose a character from the novel and create a mask that represents either his shame and self-consciousness or his freedom and liberation from it. If you choose Jack, do not simply recreate the mask that he makes for himself in the novel. Be sure your mask is original and illustrates real insight. Your mask should be about 8 ½" x 11" and in full color. Type a well-written paragraph that explains the choices you made in designing your character's mask.

OR

WRITING

-Imagine you are one of the characters trapped on the deserted island with the other boys. Write seven journal entries about the events in which you participate or witness while on the island. Your journal entries should focus on important events and should be consistent in their point of view. Your journal entries should be typed and ready to turn in at the beginning of your first English class.

Rosa Scott Summer Reading for Students Enrolled in English I

All students (English I and Accelerated English I) MUST read the following book:

- Make Your Bed by William H. McRaven

Students need to read the novel and be prepared for a basic reading comprehension quiz, as well as a thorough writing assessment during the first week of school.

ON THE FIRST ELA CLASS DAY students are asked to bring the following:

ART

- As the old saying goes, “Into every life, a little rain must fall.” Think about the fourth lesson, “Life’s Not Fair, Drive On,” presented in the book Make Your Bed. As humans, we have the unique ability to choose how we respond to life’s challenges. In other words, when the rain is falling, we can give up all hope, OR we can accept that challenges are a part of life and persevere using our resourcefulness to find a solution and adapt.

Think of an event in your life that made you realize that life is not always fair. Illustrate two cartoons.

- One cartoon should depict the event and illustrate how your life might be different if you had accepted defeat.
- The other cartoon should depict the same event and illustrate how you stepped up to the challenge and accepted lesson four’s message, “Life’s Not Fair, Drive On.”

The cartoons must be completed on 8 1/2 x 11 unlined paper. They will be graded on originality, creativity, neatness, and the ability to illustrate the concepts above.

OR

WRITING

-Consider each of the ten lessons presented in the book Make Your Bed. Which lesson do you think is most important to your own personal success? Write a three paragraph reflection. The first paragraph should describe the lesson using details from the text. The second paragraph should explain why it is the most important to you using personal examples, and the third paragraph should describe how this lesson will help you avoid possible roadblocks in life and what those roadblocks might be. Your reflection should be typed, double spaced, and printed out on white copy paper.

If you have trouble printing at home, bring a thumb drive with your work saved on it, and you can print it off in the library before school begins. Teachers will NOT allow you to leave class to do this once school begins, so be sure to do it before school or your work will be counted late.
